

Why does the FCC want to cater to big business? There should be a limit on the number of stations one company can buy. Then they don't have this much influence.